

Sailing for a Nuclear Free World and a Peaceful, Sustainable Future

Historic Sailboat Project Supports UN Treaty to Ban Nuclear Weapons

In 1958 four Quaker peace activists sailed the Golden Rule toward the Marshall Islands in an attempt to halt nuclear weapons testing. The US Coast Guard boarded her in Honolulu and arrested her crew, causing an international outcry. Arrest of the crew and rising awareness of the dangers of radiation led to worldwide demands to stop nuclear testing. This spurred the U.S., the U.S.S.R., and the U.K. to sign the Limited Nuclear Test Ban Treaty of 1963. In 2010, the Golden Rule was rebuilt in Humboldt Bay, Northern California and is now, "Sailing for a Nuclear Free World and a Peaceful, Sustainable Future."
